

Call for Nominations—Director

The Association of Earth Science Editors is always looking for people willing to serve on the Executive Committee. We are currently looking for someone to fill one of the three Director positions, for a three-year term, beginning this September. Directors attend the two board meetings held at each annual meeting, participate in discussions (by email) of AESE business, and vote, when necessary, on issues that arise during the year. Directors may also, if they wish, take on a leadership role, such as serving on a committee, or acting as liaison to AGI, AAAS, GSA, etc. The role is generally not that demanding or time consuming.

If you're looking for a way to help out or gain experience in steering an organization, please consider taking on this important role. Those who have done it in the past would agree it is a rewarding experience and a great learning opportunity, one that provides insight into the inner workings of an organization.

AESE is a small organization, managed by a dedicated few, committed to promoting excellence in earth science editing, publishing and outreach. Please consider helping out. If you're interested or would like more information, please contact Marg Rutka (chair, Nominations Committee) @ Marg.rutka@ontario.ca .
